Dear Rabbi Tureff,

Thank you for the opportunity to review your sefer Recovery in the Torah. Your examples of Biblical Addiction successfully proves that such an analysis is not to be feared. Each analysis of the anomalies of rational behavior is well thought out. The proofs you bring to those who rely on the principle of faith to overcome addiction are not based on dogma.

Although Biblical Addiction described in the Torah has its roots dating back to a time before internet and rampant substance abuse made available by drug cartels, the case studies are relevant today. Rabbi Tureff has taken this very broad subject and successfully blended Chazal and well known secular programs, for example the well known 12 Step Program used by Alcoholics Anonymous, in a way which builds a solid foundation of faith that the entire Torah was given from Hashem to Moses on Mount Sinai. Readers will find the crossover engaging whether or not one has a background in Torah learning.

This sefer is a must for someone who works in the field of kiruv and healing those afflicted with addiction. Rabbi Tureff bases his insights on well known Torah Scholars and delivers them in a way which will immediately capture the attention of a person seeking the truth and healing.

This sefer is well sourced and a reflection of your commitment to Torah and your overwhelming desire to heal others. May you merit seeing your sefer, Recovery in the Torah, warmly received and well circulated amongst Klal Yisrael.

With Torah blessings and warmest regards,

Rabbi Daniel Channen
